

A Matilda II of the 32nd Army Tank Brigade in March 1942. This tank of the 4 Royal Tank Regiment served in the defence of Tobruk, a role to which the Matilda was just about adapted at that time. In fact, its slowness meant it did not participate in operations over long distances in the desert.

